UX Designer, Designation
September 2018 - March 2019

During a 24-week intensive UX program, I worked on teams of three to define problem spaces through user research. I also developed design solutions and validated them through wireframes and prototypes. I worked with startups and nonprofits that included:

League Swype - A tech startup building a digital wallet for fantasy players.

- Worked directly with the CEO and SMEs to brainstorm payment solutions within legal, financial and technical constraints with the goal of creating a feasible MVP to spark interest on the market
- Developed a unique reminder feature, a new onboarding process, an analytics dashboard, and new payment flows

The Eric Carle Museum of Picture Book Art - A nonprofit museum.

- Designed a searchable catalogue to connect remote users to the museum's often overlooked educational resources
- Developed a new informational architecture to make the website easier to navigate through user testing and card sorting
- Researched and interviewed target audiences that currently use the website to find business opportunities

- Created, presented and sold design proposals by understanding client needs and iterating based on their feedback

- Designed a magazine ad for the marketing team

Landscape Designer, George Cardenas Landscape Design
